

PhD 3-year Scholarships

Internet Interdisciplinary Institute (IN3) –Universitat Oberta de Catalunya in Barcelona

The IN3 invites applications for its Interdisciplinary English-speaking PhD programme in the Society of Information and Communication in its three different itineraries:

- Information and Knowledge society
- Network and Information Technologies
- e-Learning

Successful applicants will be part of the IN3 and join a vibrant, internationally oriented research community specialized in the investigation of the network society, the knowledge economy or the e-learning methodologies as well as in the study of network technologies and specific areas of software. Staff at IN3 is composed by full-time researchers, professors at the Open University of Catalonia and international visiting professors. For further information about the IN3, please visit <http://in3.uoc.edu/web/IN3>.

We welcome applications from students from Arts and Humanities, Business and Economics, Engineering, Law and Political Science, Media, Science Education or Social Sciences in general, strongly motivated to undertake an interdisciplinary research.

Applicants having a minimum of 300 ECTS credits (60 must be at postgraduate level) can access directly the PhD programme with a 3-year scholarship.
